

Strong Winds & Heavy Rain Forecast for the UK

Heavy rain accompanied by strong winds is expected during Monday evening and into the early hours of Tuesday across many parts of south & southwest England, and west Wales. Although the main rain area and strongest winds will clear away early on Tuesday, further heavy showers are expected through the day.

Wednesday has no reported weather warnings however rapidly strengthening winds and heavy rain are likely to arrive across the west later on Thursday and through Friday, heralding another potentially stormy period with gusts exceeding 70mph in some areas.

Outlook for the week ahead:

Images from: www.metoffice.gov.uk

Rain Wind

In response to the adverse weather forecast for the week, we can advise as follows:

- Davies Loss Adjusting / Davies Inspector Team
Additional resources are available as and when required. All visits will be arranged within SLA's and all efforts concentrated on effective and timely mitigation activity.
- Davies Managed Systems & BVU (Buildings Validation Unit)
Our surge response plan sits in readiness to provide the necessary resource to support any additional workload driven by the weather and to ensure compliance with all agreed service levels.
- Eastwell (Contractor Management) & Davies Response (Disaster Restoration)
Have in place the necessary resources to respond immediately to all affected areas and stand in readiness to assist with emergency roof / mitigation repairs.

In addition, our Out of Hours are aware of the potential increase in OOH calls over the next 24hours and have resourced accordingly.

Davies Group

Document Revision

Version	Date	Author	Document Name
5.2	12 th December 2011	Group Business Development	Operational Weather Bulletin